DEATH GRIP ON VERDUN LINE HOLDS

GERMANS MAKE AT-TACK ON FRENCH
FRONT.

GERMAN TERROR SUNK
LONDON CLAIMS VIC-TORY IN NORTH
SEA FIGHT.

There is virtually no let-up in the German effort to push back the French lines on the Verdun front
northeast of the fortress.

After failing in an assault yesterday afternoon northwest of Fort Vaux, the crown prince's troops returned to the attack last night, driving against the French between the fort and the village of Dambloup, to the southeast. There, as in other efforts, they were unsuccessful and General Nivelle's forces still remain
in possession of the fort, Paris declares today.

The Turkish war office claims
further successes against the Russian army operating west of Erzer-
um. The Russians, who recently were compelled to evacuate Mamakhatum, 50 miles west of Erzerum,
have been forced to retreat some 25
miles altogether, according to Constantinople, sustaining large losses.

The battle cruiser Seydlitz was one of the German vessels which suffered heavily in the Jutland engagement of last week, according to reports received in Denmark. These reports state that the Seydlitz, a dread-nought cruiser of 25,000 tons, was seen on the morning after the battle
steaming south near Fano island off
the Jutland coast, in a badly damaged condition and pursued by British warships.

An Edinburgh dispatch says that survivors of British destroyers engaged in the Jutland fight declare
they are convinced that in a massed attack of torpedo craft they sent the German dreadnought Hindenburg to the bottom.

A list issued by the British admi-
rality shows that 333 British officers were lost in the naval battle.

LONDON, June 5.—British officers of the fleet which participated in the Jutland battle and have returned here identify two German battle cruisers sunk at the Hindenburg and the Lutzow.

The naval battle off the coast of Jutland is claimed to have been a complete victory for the British by the naval expert of the Morning Post, who writes in this morning's issue:

"The salient fact is that the German fleet was completely outfought,
lost heavily and was chased in disorderly retreat in its ports. Admiral Jellicoe brought his forces to bear upon the enemy at a time and place chosen by him."

LONDON, June 5.—The latest reports received by the British admi-
rality enabled the Associated Press to give the following review of the naval engagement off the Jutland coast with various incidents and results, as viewed from the British side:

During the night of May 31-June 1,
British destroyers made a determined attack on the retreating German fleet which hastened its flight.
The British fleet remained in possession of the scene of battle during the morning of June 1 and traversed
the field four times, finding no enemy to fire upon. The commander-in-chief took his fleet back to its bases at his leisure and five hours
after its arrival, reported the battle fleet ready for action.

As regard the German losses definite evidence, it is declared has now been obtained that they were deliberately falsified and that the following were destroyed:

Two battle cruisers—one at least
and probably two battleships; four light cruisers, eight destroyers and one submarine.

HINDENBURG TERROR SUNK.
British Destroyers Make Massed Attack on German Dreadnought.

EDINBURGH, June 5.—Survivors
arriving here from British destroyers which made a massed attack on a German battleship in the Jutland battle are convinced that they sent to the bottom the dreadnought Hindenburg, the pride of the German navy.

These sailors say that the Hindenburg was struck successfully by four torpedoes while the destroyers
dashed in alongside of her hull.

WASHINGTON — Louis D.
Brandeis, of Boston, today took
his seat as an associate justice
of the supreme court, the sixty-second citizen to rise to that high distinction. Chief Justice White administered the oath of allegiance. None but members of the court witnessed
this part of the ceremony. Mr.
Brandeis was escorted to his seat on the extreme left of the bench, where he received the
congratulations of his colleagues.

staunch resistance by Italians,

quiring unanimous consent. Adopted

nia land grant bill.

LIMA BONDS GET NO BIDS AT 4 PERCENT

No legal bids were received today
for the bonds in the sum of $550,- 000, to be issued by the city to pay for the improvement of water works
and special streets. A Cincinnati firm bid on the bonds but did not come up to the standard of par and accrued interest.

Of this amount, $550,000 is for water works and $100,000 for the improvement of special streets. City Auditor D. L. Rupert announced this afternoon that at the meeting of council tonight, action would be taken to secure the money, so that improvements could go on and be in no way hindered, even though the bonds
did not sell.

The low rate of interest at which the bonds were advertised is given as the cause of no bidders. They were rated at 4 per cent. The auditor states they will probably be re-advertised, at 4 1/4 or 4 1/2 per cent interest.

AKRON, O., June 5.—While bathing in the Ohio canal, near Barberton, Joe Koeh, 62 years old, swam drowned, before help could reach him. Coroner E. S. Lyon viewed the body in Weiland's morgue and declared that Koeh was intoxicated

CUNNINGHAM TO STICK; LAUGHS AT 'PEACE' IDEA

Kills Richie Compromise by Declining to Get Out of Race.

WELTY MAY ENTER

Unless Goeke Runs, Lima Attorney Expected to File Papers.

By David W. Bowman.

"Nothing doing" is the answer of N. W. Cunningham to the suggestion that he join with the other congressional candidates and erase himself as a factor in the race for the democratic nomination in the Fourth district. As the suggestion of the name of Walter B. Richie as a compromise candidate to be unopposed in the hope of redeeming
the district for the party was acceptable to all other candidates except
Dr. Hunt of Piqua, the above statement, obtained yesterday by telephone, may be interpreted to mean that the Bluffton banker intends to stick to the ballot like a porous
plaster sticks to a hairy hide.

When asked whether or not he had any statement to make regarding the "peace" movement, Cunningham stated in a few words that he had nothing to say. This, being interpreted, means that he has not changed his mind. Therefore he intends to run. As Mr. Richie has informed his friends that he will not run in any track which is not cleared beforehand, it is to be assumed that the Richie suggestion is dead—unless Cunningham switches between now and Thursday afternoon, the last time when declarations of candidacy may be accepted legally by Clerk Arthur J. Morris of the board of elections.

Another result which may be expected as a result of the determination of Cunningham to stick is that the rest of the large flock of candidates will do the same thing. They had assented, according to unde-niable authorities, to eliminate themselves in favor of Richie if all should assent, and perhaps some of them knew at the time that the Bluffton candidate would not join the "harmony" movement. But they said nothing about what they would do if the idea failed to gain
headway in Richland township.
Therefore it is safe to assume that the situation is unchanged and remains just where it was at the beginning of the state convention,
when "Bill" Hoffer, veteran editor
of the Wapakoneta News, uncorked

Scene of Greatest Naval Fight In History Off Coast of Denmark

THE WARSPITE
The greatest sea fight in the history of naval warfare was the battle between German and British ships off the coast of Denmark, May 31, in which the Warspite, one of the five greatest battleships built, was believed to have been sunk, along with nine other important British vessels. This map shows the location of the fight.

SALARY BOOST FOR CITY EMPLOYEES TO BE RECOMMENDED

Finance Committee of Council Favors Raise in Annual Expenditures.

A Fifteen Percent Jump
Means Between $8,500
and $9,000 Yearly.

Salary boosts for city employees,
involving an increase in the annual expenditures of between $8,500 and $9,000, is to be recommended to the city council by the finance committee this evening. The members of the fire and police departments are to receive an increase of about fifteen per cent if the suggestion is adopted, while by raising the price paid for common labor from 27 to 30 cents per hour an additional five per cent gain is made in this item.
The proposed advances, "incomparison to the present scale of monthly
salaries, may be expressed in tabular form as follows:

Position	Present	Proposed
Police Chief	$100	$115
Captain	95	100
Sergeant	85	89
Detective	90	95
Patrolman	75	80
Fire Chief	100	115
Assistant	95	100
Captain	80	95
Lieutenant	77.50	89
Engineer	80	85
Electrician	77.50	89
Fireman	75	85

In the waterworks department the following scale is to be recommended to the council by the finance committee:

Superintendent, $115; secretary, $110; assistant secretary, $90; inspector, $75; chief engineer, $125;
engineer, $90; fireman, $75; pumper, $70; chemist, $85. This represents an advance of about five per cent in the total of the payroll of this department.

Examination of the data furnished
by other cities comparable to Lima
in population, secured by requests
for statistical tabulation addressed to the clerks of the cities in question, proves that Lima is behind
other municipalities in the matter of salaries for city employees. The offices of police chief and fire chief may be taken as typical examples of

BOY ESCAPES UNHURT

Accident on Lake Erie at Beaver Dam Sunday Morning.

Mrs. Sarah A. Coon, 55 years old,
wife of Manuel Coon, living a quarter of a mile west of Beaver Dam,
on a farm, was instantly killed at Beaver Dam, Sunday morning at 8:45 o'clock, when she was struck by a switch engine on the Lake Erie & Western railroad, while on her way to attend the Methodist Sunday school.

Her grandson, Dean Myers, who was with her, was injured. Mrs.
J. F. Brennan of 618 South Metcalf street, is a sister. For some years the family lived on a small farm in Amanda township.

Mrs. Coon and the Myers boy had to cross the tracks of the Lake Erie & Western railroad by way of a footpath to reach the church. Every Sunday this footpath is used by church-goers. A sliding rung along the tracks and a freight engine and 15 cars were ordered to meet the morning passenger train west on the Lake Erie & Western railroad, at this point. Mrs. Coon had just crossed the main tracks when she was struck by the switch engine,
which, with the 15 cars attached,
passed over her body.

Dr. W. K. Black, who is caring for the practice of Dr. E. C. Yingling while the latter is absent from Beaver Dam, was called to render aid, and upon examination of the body, found that death had been instantaneous. Dr. Black states he is

TEDDY BALKS ON HUGHES AS LEADER

DECLARES HE 'PICKED
ONE GOLD BRICK';

BOOM ON FOR JURIST

OF FAVORITE SONS,
NONE SHOWS ANY STRENGTH.

CHICAGO, June 5.—The movement for nomination of Justice Hughes today took on the aspects of a genuine boom.

Arriving delegations brought evidences of sentiment in favor of the jurist and men who have been identified with the Old Guard of the republican party declared that many delegates instructed for others were ready to turn their votes to him at the first ballot.

The lack of compelling leadership
by the men who have composed the Old Guard is emphasized on every hand. They express themselves as not favoring Justice Hughes for any reason of personality but because the delegates bringing first hand reports of sentiment from the states
believe he can be the harmonizer
who can rehabilitate the party and bring in the progressive strength.

On every hand explanations are sought of the failure of expected sentiment for Colonel Roosevelt to crystallize. A week ago those who opposed the nomination of Roosevelt were fearful of a stampede to him, but now it is said that is impossible. Many cannot understand what brought this change.

Republican leaders after a canvass
today declare that Colonel Roosevelt's ultimate strength would not be more than 200 delegates at the outside, and they believe the number would be nearer 150 delegates.
It is asserted that the remaining 750
or 800 delegates would not vote for him under any circumstances.

Almost persuaded that Theodore Roosevelt cannot be put over as republican candidate for the presidency, his progressive supporters have made a sharp shift in policy. They now propose to put a third ticket in the field unless Charles E. Hughes will make a square-toed pre-convention statement on preparedness and the international situation.

Hughes prospects have been little advanced. Those of Roosevelt are plainly dwindling. The new aggressive of the Roosevelt men has not yet had any noticeable effect.

Here are the important developments of the day:

Colonel Roosevelt notified his followers over the telephone that he,
for one, would not support Hughes
unless Hughes would declare himself definitely. The colonel said he had picked one gold brick, meaning William H. Taft, and he did not propose to pick another.

William Allen White, leader of the uncompromising progressives, said:
"We will take Hughes if he convinces us by a straight-out statement that he is not another Wilson. We are satisfied with his record, but we want to know where he is on preparedness and foreign policy. And if he doesn't tell us we won't nominate him."

"FAVORITE SONS" ARE WEAK.
Not One is Deemed Able to Start a Stampede.

CHICAGO, June 5.—Of all the favorite sons who will be presented to the convention none is estimated to have the strength to command a stampede. The Weeks supporters are continuing their claims of 300
or more votes on the first ballot, Senator Cummins' managers claim
more than 100 votes on the first ballot and, in addition, say that Colonel Roosevelt would support their man,
but it is not generally believed that any of the favorite sons' votes can be held all the way through.

Fred W. Estabrook, national committeeman from New Hampshire
said today he believed all but four candidates would be practically eliminated after the first ballot. He thinks Colonel Roosevelt out of the race.

Regardless of action the republican and progressive conventions finally take, Victor Murdock of Kansas, chairman of the progressive national committee, who arrived here
today, said the party organization
should be maintained.

"The progressive party must not
and will not pass out of existence, no matter what the result of the coming conventions," said Mr. Murdock. He declined to predict the probable action of the progressives.
James R. Garfield of Ohio, another Roosevelt leader, today stated that political expediency was largely the cause of the progressive's failure to disclose and definite program regarding their support of Colonel Roosevelt.

George W. Perkins of New York, recognized spokesman for the progressive party, issued a statement today reiterating that he was for harmony with the older party, but not harmony at any price.

LIMA U. C. T. WILL LEAD AT COLUMBUS

W. E. Booth New Grand Councillor; Team to Parade.

Lima council, No. 17, United Commercial Travelers, which made such a fine showing in the parade of Saturday, will be largely represented in the big U. C. T. parade, which will be held in connection with the meeting of the grand council in Columbus on June 9 and 10. More than 50 councils from all over Ohio will be represented.

The drill team of 24 members has been fitted out with new uniforms and will make a fine spectacle. W. E. Booth of Lima, who is grand junior councillor, will be vested with the title of grand councillor, at the state meeting. Capt. F. M. Bell is drilling the men in the team.

The committee in charge of the grand lodge meeting in Lima consists of H. M. Reed, chairman; F. M. Bell, captain of the degree team; W. D. Foster, William H. Howell, Rolfe G. Grubb and O. W. Miller.

Special cars over the Ohio Electric railway will leave Lima early on the morning of June 9 for Columbus, carrying the Lima delegation of one hundred or more. Many of the men will be accompanied by their wives.

SHAWNEE HOME COMING.

One hundred and fifty persons, all of whom worship at Shawnee Methodist church or have been affiliated with the church in days past and gone, attended the homecoming there yesterday. The Rev. W. W. Constelin of Lima, pastor, gave an appropriate sermon. Mrs. Constelin sang several numbers. This number was also present for the Sunday school service at 9:30 o'clock. Clyde Coleman was in charge as superintendent and an interesting session was featured.

YEAR-OLD INFANT DIES.

Richard Francis Alleman, year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin H. Alleman of 497 McPherson avenue, died Saturday evening at 6:15 o'clock, after an illness of eight weeks from whooping cough. Pneumonia which developed three days ago, caused death. Funeral services will be held Tuesday forenoon at 10 o'clock at the residence. Interment will be in Woodlawn.

THE IDLER

F. W. Boggs, James Jones, Jacob Cook and Harry Means, arrested Saturday night on charges of fighting, received hearings in criminal court this morning and were each fined $1 and costs.

George T. Glover of West Market street, accompanied by his father, H. H. Glover, of Grand Island, Neb., leaves tomorrow for Boston to attend the reunion of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Because his automobile struck and injured little Eunice Stone, 10 years of age, about a year ago at nightfall, Benjamin F. Thomas is defendant in a trial started in court this morning before Judge Kilgus and a jury. Philip Pfeiffer, acting for the little girl, is suing for damages in the sum of $5,000, for alleged injuries to her small body.

Eliza Kennedy was arrested this afternoon on advice from Kenton, where he is wanted on a charge of beating a board bill. Officials of that city were notified of his arrest and notified local police to hold him until he was sent for.

MRS. LYDIA JACKSON DIES AT HOSPITAL

Mrs. Lydia Jackson, 68 years old, wife of John Jackson of 712 North Jackson street, died at the city hospital Sunday at 2:30 o'clock. She was removed to that institution Saturday, from her home. Death was due to a complication of diseases. For three years she had been ill.

She was born in Union county on August 18, 1848. The husband and 7 children, three sons and four daughters, are left. The remains were removed today from the Williams and Davis mortuary to her home.

The body will be accompanied at 12:35 o'clock on Wednesday to St. Marys, for the funeral and interment.

GOOD ROADS GIVEN BOOST BY ROTARY CLUB AT LUNCHEON

Condition of Highways and Statistics Are Piled Up.

Improvements Are on Foot But Work to be Done Immense.

"Good Roads Day" with the Rotary club was observed at the noon-day luncheon today, with the improvement of Allen county thoroughfares as the chief topic of interest. Members of the board of county commissioners, trustees of several townships, good roads advocates from many parts of the county and local enthusiasts were guests of the organization.

S. M. Williams spoke for the Allen county branch of the Ohio Good Road Committee, dwelling with special emphasis on the fact that the wretched condition of roads in many parts of the nation during the winter and spring is responsible for the growth of the metropolitan mail order house at the expense of the local retailer. Another factor is that the high cost of living may be traced, to an appreciable degree, to the fact that poor roads prevent the farmer from marketing his entire crop of foodstuffs.

County Engineer W. R. Toy, armed with statistics and presenting his facts without the technical coating which often prevents comprehension, told of the obstacles which confront the county and township authorities in the repair or construction of better roads. Of 924 miles of roads in the county, he stated, 85 miles may be classed as state-highways. Of this mileage 27 miles will be in good shape in November. Side drainage, he added, is one solution of the problem of preservation, while top treatment, especially if augmented by asphalt oil, will bind the materials and conserve the original ingredients of a modern road. Traffic has increased 300 per cent in the last five years, according to Mr. Toy, yet the money is less abundant than five years ago. He is an advocate of hard surface roads and urged more substantial foundations for all highways.

Attorney Eugene Lippincott, speaking of the legal aspect of the problem, called attention to the fact that the most serious handicap of the authorities is lack of funds. A motion was passed expressing the sentiment of the Rotarians that the organization should lend moral support to the commissioners and township trustees in an effort to increase the funds by use of the two-mill provision of the tax law of the state.

Mr. Williams read off the list of the Allen county road improvement committeemen, in order that the Rotarians may co-operate with them. They are:

Road Organization—W. C. Bradley, W. H. Moore, A. L. Metheny, Road Education—Thomas Roberts, Henry A. Mack, John A. Harley, Road Legislation—Eugene T. Lippincott, E. J. Maitre, S. D. Crites, Road administration—Thomas R. Hamilton, O. E. Davis, W. C. Fridley, Township Committeemen—T. M. Berry, Spencer; John A. Becker, Perry; B. F. Jennings, Monroe; F. B. Cotner, Jackson; William Rusler, Shawnee; Thomas Grubb, Amanda; W. D. Loy, Auglaize, Samuel Hunsaker, Marion; Henry Huber, Richland; V. M. Shappell, Bath; Scott Neely, German; J. C. Jones, Sugar Creek.

As the election of officers for the next year is due two weeks from today, President Henry C. Wemmer appointed the following to serve as a nominating committee: Mack Altchul, chairman; W. H. Moore, W. C. Fridley, P. A. Kahle and Carl K. Rowlands. W. B. Richie moved that the constitution be suspended and Mr. Wemmer re-elected for another year, the motion carrying unanimously by acclamation. The latter declined the proffered office and insisted that the nominating committee stand.

Another matter of interest was the "more daylight" suggestion, which was referred to the North White committee, Frank Baxter, chairman. The committee will report of the advisability of setting the clock one hour ahead, after the plan adopted by Cleveland and other cities.

Guests at the meeting were: W. H. Clark, President S. K. Mosiman of Bluffton College, Father William H. Tobin, William P. Romer, formerly of Lima, but for 30 years a resident of St. Louis, Eugene T. Lippincott, John L. Cable, David E. Baxter, Thomas Grubb, Delphos, H. W. Pears, Frank A. Eaton, County Commissioners Frank Wright, J. L. Heath and W. W. Craig, A. A. June, Harry Young, Detroit, J. A. Allen, Philadelphia, J. C. Jones, William Rusler, of Shawnee township, County Engineer W. R. Toy and John A. Becker, of Perry township.

TEN DOGS SLAIN BY 4 SHARPSHOOTERS OF POLICE FORCE

Canine Death List May be Increased by Fifteen Today.

Muzzle Only Badge of Safety For Towser or Fido.

Persons who are fond of bologna will be able to obtain it at a very low figure, according to the predictions of the dog-hunting squad of Lima policemen, as a total of ten canines were sent to their happy hunting ground this morning by four sharpshooters detailed on the job. Chief McKinney stated that before the passing of the day about 15 more casualties would probably be added to the list.

The score of the teams that went on the warpath this morning is four Patrolmen Blair and Sullivan, and six for Patrolmen Crisenbery and Dawson. Results of the efforts of the two teams will be posted each day at police headquarters and at the end of the campaign the winners will receive a prize.

Blair and Sullivan scoured the southwest section of the city this morning and reported only one miss and this was due to the inability of the patrolmen to obtain a shot without danger to citizens. This afternoon the team made a tour in the northern part of the city.

Dawson and Crisenbery searched the eastern part of the city looking for unmuzzled dogs. This afternoon they visited the southern part. Both teams reported a scarcity of dogs and claim that many people are shutting them up to prevent their being shot.

The report of the intended action of the police department caused large numbers of persons to heed the proclamation of Mayor Simpson and buy muzzles. Hardware stores and harness shops all over the city reported an unusual sale on this article. Although many persons visited police headquarters this morning to buy dog tags with the idea that this would prevent their favorite dog being killed, they were soon informed that they would be dispatched regardless of this if not muzzled.

Police Chief McKinney stated this morning that in order to clean the city of unmuzzled dogs, it would probably take a week or more. Two shot guns and as many rifles are used by the teams. The Lima Tank and Rendering company are making preparations to take on additional men in order to handle the increased business in the manufacture of soap.

Mrs. Frank Sellers, of 944 North West street, and Mrs. Cora Hindman left this morning for Cincinnati to attend the Grand Circle meeting of the Protected Home Circle.

BIBLE SCHOOL MEET LARGELY ATTENDED

Teachers Receive Diplomas—Lima Speakers on Program.

COLUMBUS GROVE, O., June 5.—Despite the fact that with the approach of the time for the evening session of the Pleasant Township Sunday School convention, a heavy electrical storm broke, the auditorium of the Presbyterian church was well filled for the occasion. A class of 17 received certificates from the Teachers' Training department at the session.

Judge A. M. Heidelbaugh, of Columbus Grove, told of the merits of the plan of preparation for teaching in the Sunday school. Attorney T. R. Hamilton, of Lima, had for his subject, "Have You Done All That You Could?" He made a plea for better and greater work and left a new inspiration.

At the afternoon session Mrs. Eva Creps, of Lima, talked on the work of the Teachers' Training department. She is secretary of this department in Allen county. Hon. John Begg, of Columbus Grove, spoke, as did M. D. Long, teacher of the Men's class in the Methodist Sunday school.

Music for both sessions was provided by a male chorus from all the churches, under the leadership of B. F. Seltz, Sr. This chorus will sing at the county convention, to be held Tuesday and Wednesday at Leipsie. At that time they will be directed by Prof. Sims, who will return to Columbus Grove in time for these duties. The Sunday school of the Presbyterian church, where the sessions were held, provided a half dozen numbers, under the direction of their chorister, L. E. Mullen. Miss Margaret Busche was at the organ.

Funeral services for Mrs. David Johnson were held Saturday afternoon at the residence on East Sycamore street, when a large concourse of friends assembled to pay tribute to this good mother. For many years Mrs. Johnson has been an invalid. During all this time she was given loving care by her husband and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson, the former a son. Mrs. Jefferson Bunn, of Lima, and Mrs. Rose Stover are other surviving children. Interment was at Truro.

Frank L. Dustman, of Westerville, editor of "The American Issue," spoke at local churches Sunday and collected funds for the temperance cause. Mr. Dustman urged an election to be held upon the question of state-wide prohibition as soon as possible to arrange for the same. He was formerly editor of the Toledo Blade.

Miss Gladys Rimer and Margaret Busche will represent the Presbyterian church at the county Sunday school convention, to be held in Leipsie this week.

Miss Bessie Rinck, who is in charge of the millinery department of the G. E. Blum store, in Lima, spent Sunday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Rinck.

Mr. and Mrs. Lea E. Mullen and small son, Robert Delmar Mullen, motored to Miller City, Sunday, where they spent the day at the home of Mrs. Mullen's grandmother, Mrs. Louis Joseph.

Miss Kathryn Werline, stenographer in Cable and Cable's law office at Lima, came for an over-Sunday visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Werline.

Mrs. W. B. Faze and Mrs. Don Faze and small daughter were in Lima, Saturday, where they went to look over the fine, new bungalow the latter's husband is erecting in Lincoln park addition in Lima. Mr. and Mrs. Don Faze expect to locate permanently in Lima after the completion of their delightful new residence.

Mrs. Otto Doriot motored from her home in Pandora, Saturday, for a visit with her mother, Mrs. Cortes Maple.

Mrs. Mabel Beck Howell and her small brother, Paul Jo Beck, of Toledo, have arrived for a visit of several weeks with her husband's parents and sister, Mrs. Carl

A. J. Schwertner, as chancellor, and the Rev. J. T. O'Connell, as vicar general of the diocese.

SUFFRAGISTS BEGIN WEEK OF ACTIVE EFFORTS AT CHICAGO

Seek to Influence Republic-
can's to Adopt Votes
For Women.

Workers From Twelve "Enfranchised" States to Lead Big Rally.

CHICAGO, June 5.—A week of woman suffrage activities designed to exert pressure upon the republican national convention for the adoption of the platform of a plank favorable to universal suffrage will begin here, with the opening in the Blackstone theatre of a convention of the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage. It will be followed on Tuesday and Wednesday by a conference of the National American Woman Suffrage association the culmination of which will be a parade in which it is estimated that 20,000 women will march and which will carry to the republican platform committee in session at the Coliseum a set of resolutions demanding votes for women.

The two suffrage organizations have maintained distinct and separate headquarters from which their work has been directed.

Adoption of the Susan B. Anthony amendment of the federal constitution announced as the goal of the convention of the congressional union. At the first session of the three days' convention which began today, steps were taken for the formation of a woman's party designed to attain the adoption of this amendment. A committee, it promised, will be appointed to call upon the platform committee of the republican convention and make a demand for a pronouncement on the suffrage issue favorable to the new party.

Women from twelve "enfranchised" states will participate in the meeting to form the woman's party, the first session of which will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Miss Maude Younger, of California, assistant national legislative chairman will make the keynote speech as temporary chairman. The gist of this speech, it is announced, will be an attack on the democratic administration for its failure to act favorably on the Susan B. Anthony amendment. Miss Anna Martin, of Nevada, it is predicted, will be permanent chairman.

A salient part of the convention program will be a discussion by prominent western women as to how their ballots may be utilized to the best advantage for the suffrage cause. Immediately after this discussion a program designed to obtain the objects of the union will be adopted. Those taking part in the discussion will be Mrs. William Kent of California, wife of Congressman Kent; Miss Anna Martin, of Nevada; Miss Maude Younger of California; Mrs. Dora Phelps Buell of Denver; Mrs. C. S. Haire of Montana; Mrs. Sara Bard Field of California; Mrs. Lilla Day Monroe of Kansas and Mrs. W. H. Sawtelle of Arizona.

In the morning the various state delegations will register and be assigned places on the convention floor. The lower floor will be used exclusively for the voting women and the balcony will be thrown open to visitors from "unfranchised" states and the general public. The theatre has been decorated with the purple, white and gold colors of the union.

Miss Alice Paul, national chairman of the union, will call the convention to order and Miss Younger's speech will follow. The appointment of rules, resolutions and nomination committees will then be taken up.

Reception for the visiting delegates will be held in the evening.

Tuesday morning the committees will meet and in the afternoon there will be a discussion of the number of women the union will be able to muster at the November election. Mrs. Margaret Zane Chardron of Salt Lake City; Dr. Cora Smith King of Seattle; Mrs. Ida Pinney Mackrille of Berkeley, Cal., and others will speak. On Wednesday noon 1,000 women will be entertained at a luncheon at the Auditorium which the social events committee has called a "suffragette first" affair. Among the speakers at this affair will be Mrs. O. H. Belmont, Mrs. Inez Milholland Boesevain and Mrs. Robert Adamson of New York, Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley of Washington; Miss Helen Keller; Mrs. Elizabeth Gerberding of San Francisco and Mrs. Wallace Williams of North Yakima, Washington.

Wednesday night, it is announced, members of the democratic, republican, progressive and socialist parties will speak at a mass meeting at the Coliseum.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National American Woman Suffrage association, is here and will preside tomorrow at the opening conference of that organization which will continue for two days. The purpose of this conference is to formulate the resolution which is to be offered by the marching women to the resolutions committee of the national republican convention opening at the Coliseum Wednesday. Representatives from all the state women's delegations which have come to march in the parade and active Chicago suffragists will attend the conference which will adjourn Wednesday noon.

tearing her to pieces until the mighty ship reeled and sank. An officer from one of the destroyers gave the following graphic account of the battle:

"The ships of the grand fleet went into action as if they were going into maneuvers. From every yard arm the white ensign flew the flag which is to the sailor as the tattered colors were in days of old to a hard pressed regiment. That it went hard with the battle cruisers is apparent but one ship cannot fight a dozen. They had fought a great fight, a fight to be proud of, a fight which will live longer than many a victory.

"We fought close into the foe and if anything is certain in the uncertainties of naval battle, it is that we gave at least as good as we got. We passed along the line of German ships some miles away and let off broadside after broadside. The air was heavy with masses of smoke, black, yellow, green and every other color, which drifted slowly between the opposing lines hiding sometimes friend and sometimes foe. The enemy ships were firing very fast but at the ships at front. One came to the conclusion that the shooting was decidedly erratic. Again and again salvos of the shells fell far short of the mark to be followed immediately by others which screamed past high in the air.

"I watched the Iron Duke swinging through the seas letting off broadside after broadside, wicked tongues of flames leaping through clouds of smoke. The din of battle was stunning, stupendous, deafening, as hundreds of the heaviest guns in the world roared at once. Great masses of water rose in the air like water spouts, reaching as high as the masts, as the salvos of German ships fell short or went over their target. Now and then a shell found its mark but it left me absolutely cold as its effect on each man at a time like this. A dozen men may be knocked out at one's side. It makes no difference. It was impossible to see what was happening among the ships of the foe. The smoke obscured everything so effectively that one could only get a glimpse at intervals when a kindly wind blew a lane through the pall.

It was apparent that the best ships of the enemy were engaged but how many neither eye nor glass could make out. The number was certainly large. It was equally impossible to see what damage we were causing. Only the high command knew the progress of the battle. That the damage inflicted on the German ships was great does not admit of any doubt. At one time two vessels red with fire gleamed through the smoke.

"It's a curious feeling to be in the midst of a battle and not to know to which side fortune leans. Where only a few ships are engaged it is different. Our own losses were known with some degree of exactness but even that was uncertain. Thus at one time it was thought that the Lion had been lost as she did not answer any call. It transpired that her wireless had been destroyed.

"With the dusk came the great opportunity of the mosquito craft and both sides made use of it to the full. It was in this way that one of the saddest of many sad incidents occurred. A destroyer, true to its name, dashed for the big enemy ship. She soon got into effective range and loosed her torpedoes with deadly effect on a German battleship. The ship went down and the destroyer raced for safety, the command and officer standing on the bridge indulging in mutual congratulations at their success. At that moment a shell hit the bridge and wiped out the entire group.

"It was curious to note the effect of the fight on the sea. Calm at the beginning, the water soon looked as if it were under the influence of a gale so great was the turmoil caused by the leviathan ships plowing at terrific speed through the waves. The sea also seemed to be stiff with fish killed by the shells bursting in the water."

LONDON, June 5.—Survivors of the British cruiser Warrior who landed at Davenport say the Warrior and the cruiser Defence steamed between two lines of German warships with the result that within a few minutes the Defence was blown into the air and the Warrior badly riddled. A storm of German shells exploding on the decks of the Warrior almost suffocated the crew with their gases.

When the Germans were at length driven off by British re-inforcements the pumps were manned on the battered and sinking ship and succeeded in keeping her afloat until an auxiliary ship came alongside and took off the wounded. The auxiliary took the Warrior in tow for 48 hours when she foundered.

One of the officers of the Warrior told the order in which the British ships were lost. He said that the Lion, Admiral Sir David Beatty's famous flagship, led the battle cruisers into action and withstood a terrific bombardment. The Invincible was the first to go down, followed closely by the Indefatigable and a few minutes later by the Queen Mary.

ANIMAL AND PLANT LIFE.

If what scientists tell us is true, there is not much difference, after all, between vegetable and animal life. Plants eat, drink, breathe, sleep and work, as everyone knows; if we are to accept that statement that they think also, it is pretty hard to tell where the vegetable kingdom ends and the animal kingdom begins.—Exchange.

BUSINESS The Great Field of Opportunities

The demand for graduates of the Lima Business College has been so great this spring that the college has filled less than half of the positions open. It has not been able to supply the business concerns of Lima to say nothing of the repeated calls from Chicago, Cleveland, Toledo and Akron. In April and May over fifty places went unfilled.

Large concerns have sent representatives to the college in their endeavor to secure competent office help. In some cases the college has been obliged to send out students before they finished their term.

Dual Track Meet Between "Y" and High Is Success

More than 50 track men competed in the dual meet Saturday afternoon between Lima high school and the Y. M. C. A. although the latter squad won by a score of 67-12 to 41-12, the high school boys made the meet interesting by close competition in all the events.

Prof. Schweickert of the high school was so much impressed with the work of his proteges and with the support accorded them by students of the school, that he is in favor of making the track meet one of the principal branches of sport at the institution.

Carl Reese was one of the star performers of the meet, taking the half-mile run, the 140-yard dash and placing in several other events. Mann starred for the high school. He took the broad jump with a record of 18 feet and 2 inches, and on the hop, step and jump made a mark of 37 feet and 5 inches. The high school won the relay race for a distance of half a mile. Other matters to come before the council include paying legislation and a discussion of the street and water works bonds, for in case the bidding discloses the fact that the city will have a hard time unloading the four per cent issue on the market some remedies may have to be applied. Residents in the vicinity of the northeast corner of West and Eureka street have petitioned for the abatement of a nuisance at that place, in the form of a garbage dump. There are 45 signatures attached to the petition.

SKAGER-RAK

Conflicting reports still preclude the conclusions which might otherwise be drawn from the battle of Skager-Rak. While we await more authentic data the conjectures must be withheld and our interest satisfied with the knowledge that the clash to the west of Denmark is the greatest naval battle of all time, insofar as the size of the fleets, cost per ship and loss of life is concerned, not to mention the improved modes of destruction. Beside the spectacle of thirty modern battleships bombarding one another at a distance of twelve or fifteen miles, aided by aircraft and submarines, even such a struggle as Trafalgar dwindles into insignificance.

Aside from the moral effect—that is, the encouragement kindled in the hearts of the intrenched infantrymen before Verdun—Germany's victory can have little permanent effect on the final result. The conflicting claims as to relative losses are as yet too much at variance to permit the conclusion that the battle was a decisive one. At present we must call it a draw, until further information disproves that belief. If the German fleet suffered the same losses as did that of the United Kingdom it is patent that the former is at greater disadvantage, for the British navy is so large in comparison to the Kaiser's that England can much more easily afford to lose than her Teutonic rival. Recall the old adage about bluffing the man with the chips?

Germany needed a victory—that is undeniable. On land she is able to protect her borders from invasion, but unable to break the moribund which is slowly but surely wearing her out. Her food supply had become important enough as a national problem to warrant the appointment of a food dictator. This encouragement had begun to characterize the entrenched fighters on the western front, for the four months' fiasco at Verdun as well as the failure of the Irish revolt, shattered the winter's dreams of spring success. That is why the inferior fleet departed from Kiel to risk annihilation in the North sea, relying on the hope of a lucky break. The break was forthcoming, for fog and surprise bewildered the British gunners and enabled the Germans to escape with either a victory or an even score, and the effect on the land forces of such an escapade cannot be disregarded in calculating the result.

A quarter of a century, perhaps more, is required as a proper test of the decisiveness of a battle. To this day we cannot estimate the title of Mantika and Santiago to rank among the great naval battles of history, for the result on the tide of history is still to be proved. But unless the signs fail Germany has achieved what would otherwise have been considered impossible—the battling of the sea-power of Britannia. The latter's control of the seas is still unimpaired but her prestige lessened and her opponents inspired with new energy. England faces the realization that she is not impregnable, and the United States must come to realize the fact that Germany, as well as her rival, is a naval power worthy of recognition.

J. Ogden Armour, head of the beef trust, has announced his support of Roosevelt as a presidential candidate. George W. Perkins, head of the harvest trust, has been for four years the meat ticket, fountain of youth and guardian angel of the Bull Moose party. The appearance of Armour serves merely to substantiate what has long been common knowledge—that Roosevelt is the chosen representative of Wall Street when it comes "down to brass tacks".

Ever since the now famous "practical man" letter of 1914, when Teddy swung the black-jack of federal prosecution on the late Edward H. Harriman for a $200,000 campaign contribution as the tribute of the railroad, it has been evident that the colonel's protestations of virtue have been insincere and false. It is a generally accepted fact among political observers that Cortelyou and Loeb were "milking" corporations while the Great De-tractor kept up the cry of "malefactors of great wealth" and "big business" in order to threaten the trusts. Records reveal more actual prosecution under the Sherman law during Taft's four years than during seven and a half under Roosevelt.

The public was deluded by the sage of Sagamore Hill long enough to compass the triumph of 1904, but the panic of 1907 first brought to light the duplicity of the colonel. The Tennessee Coal and Iron merger opened the eyes of the electorate to the resemblance between Roosevelt and the two-faced god Janus. Then came the Panama Canal revelations and the exposure of Cronwell's personally-conducted hand-made, gold-mounted revolution in Colombia and the instant recognition of Panama's independence. To this was added the scandal involving the purchase of the French rights for $4,000,000 and their sale by Teddy's brother-in-law, Douglas Robinson, for eleven times the cost.

And now that Armour has joined the "practical men" and shown that he has in his mood "something of the hero" it will be difficult to find voters who still consider Roosevelt the foe of Wall Street and the Nemesis of grafters. The man who professes to believe that the Oyster Bay candidate is free from alliances with the guests at the Gary dinner must be either blind or obtuse. The discouraging part of it all is that our laws permit house-wipers to vote when the facts make them out too partisan to be impartial judges.

The old guard of the Republican party might look into the battle of Skager-Rak for a lesson. It may have control, but Teddy might slip out of Oyster Bay as stealthily as ever the Germans sneaked out of Kiel.

Now that the Waite case is concluded and the Orpet trial deadlocked over the jury, the public can rest a few days by turning to such unimportant matters as the battle of Skager-Rak and the Chicago convention.

The old-fashioned man who went fishing at a benedictum inn for a vacation now refuses to find enjoyment in anything less than a cruise to Mackinac or through the Georgian Bay.

The Republicans assemble at Chicago Wednesday. If they name a candidate to oppose Wilson before Saturday evening, they will be doing well.

NEW NOTES FROM MOVIELAND

WILLIAM S. HART, the Tri-angled star, recently completed work on a new feature in which 121 Sioux Indians appear in his support. The title of the play is "The Apostle of Vengeance," and in it Hart plays the part of the half-breed.

He spent many days about the studio trying out various styles of make-up before he was satisfied that he had struck the right one, and then he started with camera men and the Indians up to Mount Baldy where most of the work was accomplished.

Hart's make-up was so accurate that it became the leading topic of the day in the coast studios. Then someone noticed that among the Indians there was one brave, Harry Lane Bear, who strongly resembled Hart, as Hart had made-up.

The curious part of it was that Hart had not tried to make-up for any particular Indian, but rather as a composite. He was as much interested in the discovery as any "I'm glad to know this," he remarked, "because if anything should happen, I'd have an understudy worth while."

Alice Joyce in Pictures Again. Announcement is made by Vitagraph that the famous screen star, Alice Joyce, has signed with the company.

Since Miss Joyce's statement a few weeks ago, announcing her intention of returning to the screen, after a year of private life, much interest has surrounded her, and those who have watched her excellent work on the screen for years will welcome her return.

Vitagraph states that this famous player will be starred in the leading female role of its new film masterpiece, "The Battle Cry of War," which is a sequel to the world-renowned "Battle Cry of Peace."

This role will afford Miss Joyce excellent opportunities in which to display the talents which endeared her to the public before her retirement.

Audrey Munson, recently signed

W. S. Hart in "The Apostle of Vengeance." He plays only western roles. In his next picture he will be seen as a real red Indian.

by Mutual to appear in Masterpieces made at the American studios, is busy at work under Santa Barbara's warm and smiling skies on a seven-reel allegorical picture.

Audrey Munson is the artist's model who created a furor in photo play circles when she first appeared about a year ago in "Inspiration."

Vivian Rich, impersonating a shepherdess, was chased by a sheep while preparing to appear in a scene in an emotional play. The camera wasn't set up at the time and comedy material was lost to the world. Her shepherdess impersonation is in "The Wheel of Fate."

MAGDALEN ISLANDS.

When the tide is high, there are thirteen of these island bits in the Gulf of St. Lawrence; when it falls many of them are connected by a plain of glistening sand strewn with the rotting hulks and skeletons of wrecks.

There are eight thousand people on the islands, and though not far from the mainland, they are among the most isolated in the world. For six months of the year these islands are bound in ice and swept by gales that make it impossible for a vessel to come anywhere near them. The people literally hibernate, all of their occupations, gone, and touch with the world completely lost. Now and again the men form little companies to repair their houses against the smashing gales. The women weave rugs. The young folks dance, and sleigh-ride over the hills when the wind lulls. So the winter passes, monotonously, but without hardships provided the supplies hold out. Winter famine is not unknown.

when the spring is late coming

But the breaking up of the ice ends the islanders' igelessness. Early in the spring he is out in his little boat hunting seals along the edges of the ice packs. Then the herring begin to run, and the fishermen go out with their seines to net them. Later comes cod-fishing and the setting of lobster pots. Lobsters are the mainstay of the islands, and these are said to be the best lobster fisheries in the world.

The men of the Magdalens are fishermen only. The women do most of the farm work and gather all of the bait in addition to keeping house and raising families of twelve to eighteen children. The look of the Magdalens is barren indeed—high plateaus, lifting by rugged cliffs above bare sand beaches littered with bits of wreckage. For this is one of the deadliest coasts in the world. When darkness falls the islands are lined like a constellation by twinkling lighthouses set on every point to warn vessels away.

The Searchlight

A BILLBOARD A MILE LONG.

Future civic commissions in Argentina will have a heavy task before them should they attempt to remove the gigantic billboards with which an American advertising firm is now decorating their landscape. Arrangements have been made for the erection of the largest advertising billboard in the world. It will be a mile in length and covered with huge designs of the articles advertised. No single display will be less than 50 yards square and some of them will be over 100 yards square. Because of its great size, the billboard is being built upon heavy steel frame work which is set in firm concrete foundations. In addition to this immense display, near Buenos Aires, many miles of smaller billboards are said to have been contracted for, chiefly by American firms who take this means to acquaint the South Americans with their products.

EMPLOYS NEW BARGES.

Foreign capital is being employed in launching an apparently well-organized, comprehensive scheme for reviving shipping on the Mississippi river and its major tributaries, which has been practically dormant during the last generation.

that the picturesque old side and stern wheelers of ante-bellum days will also be restored to our inland waterways. Instead, squatly steel barges of great carrying capacity will be used.

The first of these craft within the last few weeks made its maiden trip to New Orleans. It is the smallest of a fleet of some thirty-five similar barges which are being constructed for the river transportation service. A comparatively low initial cost, reasonable operating expense, and general efficiency are the outstanding features of the craft which make it ostensibly capable of competing with the railroads—Popular Mechanics.

HELD FOR STEALING MOTORCYCLE IN LIMA

Charles Carr, 34, colored laborer, was arrested this morning by Plainclothesman Billstein, Patrolman Hamilton and Motor Cop Thomas on a charge of stealing a motorcycle from the Steel plant, last Wednesday. The machine is the property of Lee Heller, an employee of the company.

It is alleged that Carr took the machine from the plant and rode east of Yoder on it, when it bucked and he was forced to seek the aid of a passing motorist, who assisted him to Yoder. According to police the motorist identified Carr this morning as the man he had befriended.

Carr, who denies knowledge of the theft is out on parole from the Ohio state penitentiary, where he was sent for carrying concealed weapons.

MRS. JOHN MILLER'S FUNERAL IS HELD

Relatives, neighbors and a large company of friends gathered this morning at 10 o'clock at the family home to pay respects to all that was mortal of Mrs. John T. Miller of 220 West High street, whose death occurred Friday. The Daughters of Rebekah, of which she was a member, the Gleaners' class of the Central Church of Christ, which she attended and the Bethany Bible class of this church, attended in a body.

The Rev. A. B. House, her pastor, spoke on "The Victory of Faith", paying a tribute to her life and works and her worth in the church. Music was provided by a quartette, composed of Misses Millie and Minnie Sonntag, E. V. Smith and J. J. Freeman.

Bearing the pall to Woodlawn were George Kerr, Lloyd Bradley, S. S. Ooon, J. N. Clutter, Ray Whitney and John A. Mahon.

DONNA DEFENDER DIES

Miss Donna Defender, 36 years old, died at the home of her mother, Mrs. Isaac Defender of 261 West Kibby street, yesterday at 1:35 o'clock. She had been ill for six years, suffering from heart trouble and dropsy.

She was born in Dunkirk and the body will be accompanied to that place tomorrow afternoon at 1:42 o'clock for burial. Prayer services will be held at the family home tomorrow at 10 o'clock.

The mother and two brothers, Lowell and James, survive.

the Richie boom as a possible solution of the situation in the Fourth district. Hoyer meant well, but he underestimated the desire of Cunningham to connect with the letters M. C., which look well after any name and carry a stipend of $7500 per annum.

Three probable results may grow out of the refusal of Cunningham to consider the unanimous nomination of Richie. In the first, J. Henry Goeke will continue searching about for a man capable of putting the poison in Cunningham's soup. If he has such a man available he has not yet suggested on whom his organization will concentrate in the attempt to relegate his old rival to the realms of oblivion. It is a soft bet, however, that it will not be Coombs, of Miami, for he is in the same boat with Richie—he doesn't want any cards dealt to him if there will be another man in the hand. Combs will gladly accept the job of redeeming the district as a compromise candidate, but he doesn't propose to be banged to pieces by seven or eight other candidates. Hunt is about as far from being a Goeke candidate as Kaiser Wilhelm is from being a member of Joffre's staff, and Riddle is out to harass the Cox-Finley organization. Stur-devant and Hussey, from Shelby, are banking on the same idea as is the Lima grain man, namely, that of slipping through as a third man in a Goeke-Cunningham fight. But still J. Henry declines to admit that he is a candidate. He has until Thursday afternoon to enter, however, and it is a cinch that unless he finds a Patroclus to wear his armor he will again take up his shield as the only and original Hector.

A second contingency which might arise is that Cunningham should start to making concessions and offers of peace himself. He has had enough offers and suggestions thrown at him to know how the job is turned, but all of them contained the proviso that he should forget about going to congress. Now as long as he is in his present state of mind he can't see that idea with a pair of field glasses.

The third thing you can expect—put a pin in this or paste it on the wall, for it's worth watching—is that Attorney Benjamin Franklin Welty, foe of trusts and receptive candidate for congress, will get into the fight himself—unless Goeke does. Ben has said that he will not be the buffer between the forces which whaled away at each other in 1914, but if Henry stays out, watch for Welty to enter the lists.

That doesn't mean that Welty will be Henry's candidate if the latter stays out—not by a long shot. Remember 1910? Well, Ben ran like Cap Gale's new fire truck would if the department of safety didn't hang on to the twenty-miles-per-hour idea Goeke beat Charles C. Marshall of Sidney by a scant 250, but it isn't Welty that he has to thank. The late Andrew Cooper Robeson of Darke turned that track by getting into the race to keep Marshall from getting Darke county, which he would have received otherwise as a gift from Harvey Cable Garber.

There were two fights that year Cunningham and Shappell. 'tis said, left B. F. Welty from connecting, while Robeson was out to help Goeke beat Marshall. Welty, however, landed third and has not forgotten what he would have done if his own county had not sent two others into the field. As it was he ran strong in the lower end of the district and made things uncomfortable for both Goeke and Marshall. So it is safe to assume that if he gets into this fight it will not be at the behest of the Wapakoneta attorney.

Are there indications that he will enter if Goeke doesn't? There are. In his statement endorsing the Richie boom he called attention that he received in 1910 more than 100 votes than the combined showing of Cunningham and Shappell. If that isn't a veiled threat there isn't any such animal. The chances are that Welty was girding on his armor at that time, so as to be ready to enter in case Goeke didn't do so, for that would make it a business of being hacked from both sides, all of which is not the most pleasant sensation in the world. The other candidates, however, are banking on slipping through by just such a fight as Welty declines to enter.

Thursday evening will tell the tale. Entries in the big congressional derby close at that time and Friday will see the entries start off on their sixty day endurance contest. If the list included all who are now involved, with either Goeke or Welty added, it will be the liveliest race since the primary system was adopted. And with six in the same as there were six years ago one thing is certain—any sane man would rather have what all of them will spend than what the winner will draw in four years. $7500 per annum means $30,000 in four years, and if the cost of the congressional campaign of six men, out at interest for four years and including the loss through inattention to business and valuable sleep, doesn't pass the $30,000 mark the campaign is beating the earliest promise. Councilman Carl Griebeling is a candidate for the republican nomination for the auditorship, his membership in the party being attested by Police Chief Rolland H. McKinney, Safety Director Albert E. Gale, Clerk of Council James I. Heffner, Walter Parmestor and James Robinson of Lima. Probate Judge Fred C. Becker has turned in his declaration of candidacy for a second term.

DISCOURAGEMENT

WHERE is the person who has never been discouraged? Does he exist? Doesn't it seem at times that we are making a helpless struggle against fate most of the time? We are making a struggle, but not a hopeless one. Have you ever stopped to think how monotonous your life would be if every thing was even and uneventful? It would be like a long, dusty road without hills or valleys, an endless, uninteresting, monotonous, dusty path. The road with the hills and the valleys there we can look up or down, catch a glimpse of a new view here, or a revealing of a spot of beauty there, is the road we take when we go for pleasure, isn't it? And so in our lives.

But we get discouraged when we have to climb one of the hills, and then when we have reached its summit we are discouraged because we may have to go down in the valley. And on we go, using up our energy, in self pity when we could put it to a vital force in the getting up and down of our road. If we take the energy we put in beavelling the fact that we are not perfect specimens of the human race in the matter of character, and give some of it to the weaker sister who needs a little help over one of the bumps we are climbing, we would find more content. Henry Drummond said, "there is no happiness in having and getting, but only in giving; half the world is on the wrong scent in the pursuit of happiness." Think of that when you get discouraged. Perhaps you are on the wrong scent, stop thinking of yourself, and don't shrink because you have convinced yourself you are not a genius. But remember this when you are in the clutches of the god of discouragement, that "in the moral world there is nothing impossible if we bring a thorough will to it. Man can do everything with himself, but he must not attempt to do too much with others."

Our Rural Reporter says Providence is wise, because things were getting quiet at the corner when the Johnnies lost some ships.

All around him was rising that wide response from human minds and hearts—whether in sympathy or in hostility, which tests and sifts the man who aspires to be a leader of men—in religion or economics.—Mrs. Humphrey Ward.

Ladies Aid of Zion Lutheran church spent a delightful Wednesday at the country home of Mrs. Irvin Ridenour. At the noon hour a delicious dinner was served to the members. After the dinner pictures were taken of the ladies and children. The topic for the meeting was very appropriate for the day. The subject was: "The Beginning of the Reformation", read by Mrs. M. J. Rublen.

New members added to the membership were Mrs. McClain, Mrs. Burkholder, Mrs. Renz, Mrs. Swartzman and Mrs. Archual. A meeting will be held in two weeks at the home of Mrs. John Stonehill of East High street, at which different articles will be made for the Aid society. The next business meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Charles Baxter of West Spring street.

SCREEN GOWNS.

"The motion picture method of exhibiting fashions, which has been greatly developed during the last year or so, is having a pronounced effect on styles," remarked Mme. Rosenberg, a New York designer who has been experimenting with gowns, wraps and hats which will "take" well before the camera. "The stage has for a great many years been a sort of showcase where the season's most advanced fashions might be seen, but the moving picture stage bids fair to replace it, as by this means the models worn before a camera in New York, for example, may be seen promptly thereafter by practically every woman in the country. For this reason, it is necessary to design costumes which shall not only be beautiful in their general effect, but which shall show the tiniest detail with great distinctness, and be of colors which will give the proper effect when photographed. Some colors, as you know, take dark, even when they are light in tone—yellows, for instance. Trimmings must be of such sharp outlines and in such colors that they will stand out from the gown. The models who wear them must be able to bring out every line of the gown, so that the women in the audience may see how it is made."

"Here is a gown which I had to work on for weeks before it was made perfect for camera exhibition," and Mme. Rosenberg pointed to an old rose net combined with silver cloth, caught with hand-made roses and tassels. "This blue net, embroidered with tinsel and oriental beads, with a long cape to match, I had to design with one eye on the latest notes from Paris and the other on the requirements for screen production. The greatest care must be exercised in selecting materials and colors. Here is one that photographs well. It was a frock of blue and white pompadour satin, with a painter overskirt and bodice of turquoise velvet. It was followed by a charming gown of spun gold cloth, trimmed with tulle and beads and caught up on either side under the pannier with studded buckles. A blue chamoise, draped with tulle pockets, was also cited as successful before the camera. A "canary" frock of yellow net, with sparkled trimmings and buckles, was designed to be worn by Mary Pickford."

When the next crop of motion picture fashions is released, every woman in the remotest suburban village will have an equal chance with her New York sister to study the finest output of the French and American designers. If she is wise she will not copy these extreme styles, but will adapt and modify them in such a way that they will be appropriate, individual and therefore becoming.

Attorney T. R. Hamilton and daughters Ruth and Heien, of West High street, visited yesterday with Mr. Hamilton's sister in the country. In the evening they motored to Columbus Grove, where Mr. Hamilton delivered an address at the township Sunday school convention.

Each day brings out a new display of beautiful costumes at the New York Fashion exposition, which is running simultaneously with the biennial convention of Women's Clubs. One of the evening gowns that has attracted attention was a heavy Japanese silk, in black faced with gold, with a design of apple blossoms woven into it giving the effect of hand embroidery. The pompadour apron drapery was used over a foundation of silver and gold lace.

Another gown was of yellow crystal combined with Georgette crepe, and still another was a floatingly diaphanous affair of white net, pearls, rhinestones and silver lace. A purple chiffon over gold lace was rather more impressive than beautiful.

Among the bathing suits exhibited was one of black and red blocked silk, not as noticeable in pattern as in sounds, while a black and white striped silk suit found general favor.

All members of the Lima Hospital Alumni association are asked to be present at the special meeting, to be held Monday evening.

Ronald Cuthbert, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Cuthbert of West Market street, returned to his home last week to spend the summer vacation. He is a student at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute at Troy, N. Y.

Miss Grace Moore, of West High street, will entertain Wednesday evening at her home, complimenting Miss Edith Jones, whose marriage has been announced for this month.

Members of the St. Martha's Guild will meet at the Parish House Tuesday afternoon, instead of the home of Mrs. Chalmers Brown.

Indefinite postponement has been made of the Wayfarers' dance which was to have been given Thursday at MacBeth's Park.

Mrs. O. J. Roush, of Brice avenue, will entertain the members of the Iris club at her home Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Ross Peple, of the Elektron apartments, will be the hostess this afternoon of the Jitsau Tau club.

MARRYING A BUTTERFLY
By MRS. EVA LEONARD Y

A Chaffing Dish Supper for the Butterfly's Hungry Young Husband.

AS RALPH GORDON approached his home his step was slow and dispirited. A great depression brooded over his spirit, smothering all happiness. In his mouth was the taste of ashes. He had been obliged to go to the third-rate hotel—the only one the town boasted—and eat a poorly cooked meal that had disagreed with him, because the maid had left without any notice and his helpless little wife had not felt able to get the dinner. In his ears the words of his mother repeated themselves with irritating persistence: "Ethel is very pretty, and her childishness appeals to you, but, believe me, my boy, the time will come when you will realize that the strenuous needs of life cannot be met by a pretty plaything of a woman who has never been trained to face any responsibility." He had been angry with his mother and had assured her that he did not want his wife for the work she could do. What was the matter with him, he wondered. Ethel was as pretty as ever, but the charm had gone from all her childish ways.

"It is possible that I value physical comfort above the undoubted charm of my wife?" he thought. "But she does not try," he continued, justifying himself. "She seems to think it is no more her responsibility than mine to see that the home is comfortable. She assumes that we are common sufferers and must bear the fate that unworthy servants force upon us."

"Then, too, she is so extravagant," he continued with deepening gloom. "We are spending every dollar I make and are hardly keeping even. I thought with my big salary that we could surely save something toward buying the house."

He fastened at the center. When the person at whose place the clock is goes to any of the various rooms or apartments he places the indicator on the appropriate space on the dial. This informs others where he may be found.

The device has proved especially valuable to foremen or superintendents, but by inserting names instead of places or otherwise varying the indications the clock may be adapted to a variety of uses.

"What is your scheme?" he asked trying to enter into her plans. "First, we will have supper. I have planned a chaffing dish supper, and we are to pretend that we are not married and that you have had a real supper and I am serving refreshment, and then you can take me out to get a dish of ice cream."

Ethel was radiant with happiness. "But I have not had a real supper and I did not have a real dinner. I am hungry," was Ralph's disillusioning reply.

Ethel thought a moment. "I can give you any amount of toast and tea, and I will make a Welsh rarebit and chocolate."

"That will be a fine spread," Ralph had the grace to say as he stooped to kiss her. They entered the dining room and she pointed with pride to the table. It was cleared. "I washed the dishes, too," she boasted. Ralph took her hands in his and examined them.

"I can't see but they are as soft as ever," he chaffed.

"I used the dish mop. I can't bear to touch dirty dishes." She made a grimace.

"Don't spoil your good beginning by any such confession," said Ralph earnestly. "I think it was a very clever idea, your serving supper. Now we are to plan about our future wedding. Let's plan how you are to learn to cook." Ralph wondered at the sudden lightness of his heart. Would it come out all right after all?

Daily Talks By Mary Pickford

OUT OF THE DARKNESS—PART 1

Copyright 1916, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

NOT MANY years ago, I was asked if I would go to an institution for the blind and raffle off a box of roses which had been sent from the White House, the proceeds to go to charity.

Always we go professional women glad to offer our services for such a cause, so mother, Lottie and I gladly accepted the invitation.

There was a beautiful box of roses sent from the White House conservatories with the President's card, and I thrilled with pleasure as I touched them.

One by one eager voices bid for them and eager hands took them away from me, while the pennies which jingled into the box promised more sunshine for the dark little lives of the blind children.

But it isn't the roses of the White House that I am going to write about—it's the roses of blind children who live in the midnight garden of life's eternal shadows. This was the first time I had ever visited an institution for the blind, and I cannot tell you the emotions that racked me as I looked into that sea of strange, smiling faces, into those eyes which seemed to penetrate very souls of us as we gazed upon them.

"Children this is Mary Pickford," the sister announced us.

"How do you do, Mary Pickford?" And all the children smiled at me with one welcoming smile which wrung the tears from my heart.

Then one by one they came up and put out their tiny, tender, speaking hands and touched me.

"Oh, you have little hands," the first girl said to me, as she bent my fingers back and laughed because they were so flexible. "You could learn to talk the language of our little deaf and dumb sisters very easily."

"I wish I could," I replied, as I drew my arm around her; she seemed so frail that I could not bear to let her go away from me.

"Let me touch your mother's hand," she whispered to me. "Where is she?"

"I see her," cried another little blind girl, who was clinging to my mother. "She's Mary Pickford's mother."

"I see her!" Strangest of all, these little wanderers in the darkness never say "I hear you"—it is always, "I see you." Dear little children! I knew they see us with eyes of the heart and eyes of the soul, which are far more trustworthy than those orbs of ours that can only look at things and not into them.

Several of the children were whispering together, little giggling whispers, and finally one girl, urged on by all the others, came forward.

"We want to know," she hung her head shyly, "if you will let us touch your curls. The sisters have told us that you have golden hair. Barbara Ellen had curls, but she went away last spring and she is never coming back."

Gladioli did I loosen my hair, and I cannot tell you the joy of feeling those little, loving fingers running through it, tumbling it to be sure, but oh, so happily!

"Here are the grandmothers people!" shouted one little girl. "I can always tell them far away—their canes make such funny noises on the walks."

And in they tramped—little, bent old ladies, with sweet smiling faces, as merry as gnomes.

"I'm very pleased to see you," the oldest and most trembling of the old ladies told me. "I've a son who come here to visit me once in a while. He knows you very well—he sees you often in moving pictures. He tells me all about you and I laugh over some of the silly things you do. You must be a bold little girl—I'll warrant that your mother smacks you often."

"Humph curls!" she added, after she had touched my face and drawn her fingers over my head. "When you grow up, I don't think you are going to have very nice hair. Little girls should wear their hair in two tight braids to keep the ends from breaking," and she old lady chuckled over the advice.

"I shall take your advice, grandmother, dear," I replied to the amusement of the other old ladies.

How happy every one seems here, and I turned to the sister. She smiled

BETH ISRAEL WILL OBSERVE PENTECOST

Class Will be Confirmed With Impressive Ceremonies Next Sunday.

The Jewish Pentecost or Feast of Weeks (Shavuoth) will be celebrated in Beth Israel temple on next Sunday. At that time a class of six will be confirmed at 2:30 o'clock. Rabbi David Lefkowitz of Dayton, will preside at the services. The confirmation class is composed of Leona Bernstein, Sylvan H. Holstine, Samuel Levin, Mabel R. Rappaport of Ottawa, Esther Rubin of St. Marys, and Donald Wise of Bluffton. Certificates of confirmation will be presented by N. L. Michael, president of the congregation.

Mrs. C. S. Baxter will sing, "The Lord is My Shepherd," and Alex. Frankel will give "With Verdure Clad." There will also be organ and violin music.

The feast derives its name from the fact that it is celebrated seven weeks after the second day of Passover. All the biblical injunctions as to the manner in which the Feast was to be observed indicate that it was originally agricultural in character. It was in reality a season of thanksgiving for the harvest that had been reaped, beginning with the barley harvest during the Passover to the wheat harvest at the beginning of the summer. The ceremonial offerings prescribed were in keeping with the God-given gifts of the soil that had been gathered.

In post-biblical times this Feast was observed as the anniversary of the birth of Judaism with the promulgation of the divine law at Sinai. On this "Day of the Giving of the Law," as it was called by the rabbis, the Ten Commandments constitute part of the Scripture readings in the Synagog. It is this historical aspect of the Feast that has been emphasized in the non-agricultural life, which the Jews were compelled to live for centuries.

When the Reform Synagog introduced the rite of confirmation for the Jewish youth, the Pentecost, by virtue of its traditional association with the ancient revelation, was the day most naturally selected for charging the young boys and girls through an impressive public ceremony, with the meaning of the Jewish faith hand with the duty of leading a high and religious and moral life.

The agricultural side of the Feast, however, was not lost sight of, in that it was customary to decorate home and synagog with plants and flowers in season. In addition to a portion from the Pentateuch, the charming story of Ruth was prescribed in the Synagog because the idyllic scene of harvesting which it contains was in keeping with the celebration of the Harvest Feast. Those observing customs that originated in post-biblical times add a second day to that enjoined in the Bible.

GLUE BRUSH LIKE PEN.

Now comes a glue fountain that applies glue through a brush by pressure, doing away with the time consuming task of dipping and applying. Liquid glue is contained in a long metal barrel in which an inner barrel fits its piston-like. At the lower end of the outer barrel is a small curved tube which points toward a brush. Forcing down the inner barrel urges the glue into the bristles of the brush.—Popular Science Monthly.

"BILL" CROOKS, 60, GUEST OF BANDMEN

Local Musicians Exchange Reminiscences and Favor Sunday Concerts.

W. W. Crooks, best known as representative of the Pennsylvania but a musician on the side, was the guest of local bandmen at the Elks' club last evening, the occasion being the observance of his sixtieth birthday. Reminiscences of Lima's first attempts at band concerts and booster speeches in favor of Sunday concerts in parks marked the celebration.

County Engineer W. R. Toy presided as toastmaster and called on George H. Metheny, Joseph N. Du Pere, Charles Davis, Ben Miller and Charles Crockett, Sr., who discussed the free Sunday concert proposition.

W. W. CROOKS Sixtieth Birthday Celebrated.

The latter related his experiences in the famous May festival of Boston in 1872, when a chorus of 17,000 and a band of 2,000 pieces set a new mark in musical annals. George Durnbaugh related the early history of the Lima band, telling of the building of the first band stands in the square. Mr. Crooks warned the members of the organization against factional dissensions, explaining that discord has no place in a body dedicated to harmony.

The members who attended the dinner were Mr. Crooks, W. R. Toy, Ben Ogle, Wilber Baltzel, Charles Crockett Sr., Charles Crockett Jr., James McBeth, J. C. Thomas, Joseph N. Du Pere, Earl Davis, Don Mauss, George H. Metheny, C. C. Perkins, Ernest Mattheale, James McBride, Charles Davis, George Durnbaugh, Ross Crooks, Lon Grey, Benjamin Miller and Burt Mohr and Chris. FLOWER MISSION DAY AT ALLEN INFIRMARY

Flower Mission day will be observed at the Allen county infirmiry next Sunday. At that time women of the Christian Temperance union will take or send flowers, magazines, jellies and such bits of help and cheer to make brighter the lives of those who spend their time at the institution. Every union in Allen county will make donations. Many individuals will assist.

The address will be delivered by Dr. J. W. Maxwell, pastor of the Christian church at Lafayette. Mrs. J. F. Kriert of Delphos, will sing. Other prominent women of the county will have a part in the program. The services will be held in the afternoon and Christian people are invited to attend and to contribute any aid they may see fit, if but a bouquet of flowers.

TRINITY SINGERS IN VESPER SERVICE

A delightful vesper service was enjoyed at Trinity Methodist church yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Threatening clouds interfered little with the attendance.

The following program was given: Anthem, "Hymn of Praise" (Mohr), Trinity choir; voice, "O Divine Redeemer" (Gounod), Mrs. Glen Rohm; reading, selected, Mrs. Julia W. Simpson; voice, "In Memoriam" (Juettner), double quartet, organ, (a) "Hymn of Nuns" (Lefebure-Wely), (b) Cantilene Nuptiale (Theodore Dubois), Clinton A. Richmond; offering; chorus, "Father Divine" (Holton), Boys' choir; voice, "The Publican" (Van de Water), R. F. Mikesell; oboe, "A Twilight Idyl" (Schnecker), Carl Laubin; voice, selected, Mrs. Glen Rohm; chorus, "Sunshine" (Moore), Sunshine chorus, Miss Naomi Shreeves, Director.

KELLER TRIAL BEGINS.

Toledo, O., June 5.—The retrial of former Mayor Carl H. Keller, indicted for alleged bribery, began in common pleas court this morning. When Keller was tried the first time several months ago the jury disagreed. He is accused of accepting $500 and an automobile to influence his vote, as a former member of the city board of control, for a $65,000 contract for motor-driven fire apparatus.

VICTIM OF LOCKJAW.

SPRINGFIELD, June 5.—Leonard Hess, 13 years old, living southeast of the city, died at the City hospital of lockjaw. He ran a rusty nail into his foot while playing. Herman Whitlock, of this city, was badly injured when he fell while attempting to board a freight train. One foot was crushed and he was injured about his head and body.

Indigestion and Constipation.
"When living in Syracuse, N. Y., about two years ago I took two bottles of Chamberlain's Tablets and they cured me of indigestion and constipation after I had suffered for months with these disorders." writes Mrs. Charles Glynn, Baldwinville, N. Y. Obtainable everywhere.

Amusements

THE FAUROT PICTURES.

The Paramount program has shown nothing better than "Maria Rosa", the Lasky production now at the Faurot. The big outstanding impression created by this picture is the consummate finish of Geraldine Farrar's acting, and this is all the more remarkable when it is taken into consideration that although this is the third picture shown starting this operation song bird it was the first one in which she acted before the camera. There are few actresses on either the legitimate or operatic stage who can step into motion picture work and in their first production create the impression of artistic familiarity such as Miss Farrar has done in this offering. There can be only one explanation;—she is a born actress, and has the adaptability of one so gifted by nature.

She has been particularly fortunate, however, in three things—to work from a scenario constructed by such a master hand as that of William C. De Mille, under the direction of Cecil B. De Mille and in a play so well adapted to her personality and temperament as "Maria Rosa". These three things taken in conjunction with her own inherent ability make of "Maria Rosa" one of the most effective pictures shown on the screen in some time. It is good acting when an actress can create the illusion that she has lost her own personality in that of the character she is simulating, and this is what Geraldine Farrar has done in this picture. While looking at it you do not think of Geraldine Farrar but of Maria Rosa.

Wallace Reid handled the leading male role of Andres most effectively, although at times he was a little too cold for a naturally hot blooded Spaniard. Pedro de Cordoba, as Ramon, played with a fine passion and revengeful vindictiveness that were truly admirable, and produced the impression of realistic character drawing. Ernest Joy and Anita King handled the minor roles of Carlos and Anna in a capable, convincing manner, while Horace B. Carpenter scored as Pedro. The photography and lighting were well up to the usual standard of excellence so prevalent in Lasky pictures.

A clever and amusing Bray cartoon and some interesting and instructive butterfly studies by Prof. Ditmars complete the program, which will be given for the last times tonight.

CACTUS STORES WATER.

The weather in the deserts of our great southwest is such that only three months in the spring are sufficiently moist to permit any considerable vegetable growth. The cactuses, which are practically the only form of vegetation courageous enough to live in such arid regions, protect themselves in an almost human way against destruction. The outer coat of the barrel cactus is almost as strong as bark and is armed with long formidable spines, arranged in rows of clusters. These rows are an effective barrier to most animals seeking the inside of the cactus, which is composed of pith soaked full of water. The water is stored up during the short rainy season, as squirrels store nuts for winter.

PROFIT TAKING IS WALL ST. FEATURE

NEW YORK, June 5.—Free of ferings of motor stocks for profit followed the initial advance with reasonings of 2 to 6 points but not until Willys-Overland preferred had been added to the list of new records, rising 5 1/2 to 11 1/2. Norfolk & Western declined over a point but other rails held their gains. Canadian Pacific advanced almost 3 points. Later another spurt in specialties carried Willys-Overland common to 32 1/2 and Marine preferred to 100 1/2, with marked strength in United Fruit, Coppers, Mexicans and most of the industrials.

Trading became relatively dull at midday. International issues, including war bonds were firm. Bonds in general were steady.

Sensational advances in special stocks to new high records attended the resumption of trading today. Willys-Overland and Chandler Motors which are to figure importantly in the proposed automobile consolidation rose 13 points and 11 points respectively in the course of the first fifteen minutes, the former touching 323 and the latter 131. Marine preferred also rose to a new high price on its advance of 2 1/2 points to 99. Numerous other specialties were higher by 1 to 2 points and rails also improved substantially with Norfolk and Western which scored a new maximum on its rise to 135.

AMERICANS CARRY RIFLES IN CHINA TO DEFEND SELVES

Follow Example of British in Peking; Fear Revolutionary Trouble.

Yuan Willing to Retire if Country Guarantees His Property.

TOKIO, June 5.—Americans who live in the suburbs of Peking, I learn, have been furnished with arms. The British residents of the Chinese capital are practicing drill in the legion grounds every morning.
They fear the troubles between President Yuan and the rebels will take on an anti-foreign tinge and the Boxer massacres will be duplicated.
But the danger is probably small, because Japan has heavy legion guards in Peking and Tientsin. Thousands of other Japanese are living in Peking. They are not in business and appear to be tourists, but they are all of military age. Their numbers have caused much speculation among foreigners.
No blood is being shed in China, but the central government is exactly in the same position as if most of the country had been overrun by an invader.
No money is coming in from the provinces and foreign credit is at an end. Yuan is willing to retire, according to some reports, if the revolutionists will guarantee his life and property.
Without his money Yuan cannot abdicate; he might as well commit suicide. Once he leaves the palace his life is not worth a day's purchase in China.
There is no doubt all are anxious for a settlement, rebels, Yuanites, commercial interests and everybody else. But every Chinese government is short of money, partly because the system under which the central authority gets revenue by squeezing contributions out of the provinces is fundamentally bad, partly because the bottom problem of China is how to fill two stomachs out of one bowl of rice.
At a time like the present, if a Chinese government has not money to pay its soldiers the danger of trouble is acute, and in China trouble means intervention by or for the powers which have millions invested in the country.
KILLED BY CULTIVATOR.
ELYRIA, O., June 5.—John A. Haxhans, 43, Pittsfield farmer, run over by a cultivator when his horses became frightened, died in a local hospital today.

WAR MULE'S REWARD FOR FAITHFUL YEARS

Records Show Old "Mexique" Placed on Pension 30 Years Ago.

The archives of the war department contain an interesting record of the pensioning of a mule named Mexique, which for many years had served at Mount Vernon barracks, Ala. and which at last had been ordered sold.
The report in this case, bearing a date thirty years ago, was made by Lieutenant W. A. Kobbe of the 3rd artillery, then stationed at the barracks mentioned. In his letter to the secretary of war this officer made known the fact that he and his fellow officers of the post desired permission to purchase the animal and to maintain it at their own expense.
"During the time that I served at Key West," said Major Guenther, "from 1875 to 1880 the mule did not miss a day's work from any cause. He is very old and has been worn out by his long service in the quartermaster's department. If there is any way to provide for him I should be glad to have it done, as the expense to the government would be little or nothing."
This petition proceeded through the regular channels until it reached the quartermaster general, who forwarded it as follows:
"To promote the sentiment of kindness toward animals that are so intimately connected with the military men, it is recommended in this special case that this mule be kept in the department and left to the care of those whose kindly feelings are so deeply enlisted in its behalf."
The case was then submitted to the secretary of war by General Sherman, with this report:
"I have seen this mule, and whether true or not, the soldiers believe it was left at Big Spring, where Mount Vernon barracks now are, at the time General Jackson's army encamped there, about 1819.

1820. Tradition says that it was once a sorrel but now it is white from age. The quartermaster's department will be charged with its gratitude if the mule is sold or the care or maintenance of it thrown on the charitable officers of the post. I advise that it be kept in the department, fed and maintained until death. I think this mule was at Fort Morgan, Mobile Point, when I was there in 1842."
In view of all these reports, the secretary of war issued the following order:
"Let the mule Mexique be kept and well cared for as long as he lives."

FEDERAL CENSOR MAY ACT UPON MOVIE PICTURES

Bill Before Congress Provides For United States License Board.

STATE LAWS FAILING

Present National Board of Censors is Created by the Film Companies.

By Frederic J. Harkin.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 3.—A bill is now before congress creating a federal board of censorship for motion pictures, to be included as a new division of the Bureau of Education. This board, composed of members whose salaries are paid by the government, is to license all films that meet with its approval and requirements, and its chief purpose is to prevent the production of pictures that might have a degrading effect on audiences. In view of the difference of opinion as to the wisdom of such a board and the opposition of the motion picture industry as represented in the testimony of various members before the committee reporting the bill, the question of federal censorship is distinctly interesting.

For some time the need for some adequate method of censoring the movie has been evident. Women's clubs have attempted to have local boards of censorship established in their communities, philanthropists and social workers have lectured and written on the subject enormously in the last two years.

At the present time the censorship of moving picture productions is confined to the National Board of Censorship of New York City, the staff of which is paid by the motion picture interests and might therefore be considered prejudiced; special commissions in three states, including Pennsylvania, Ohio and Kansas; and in a few municipalities.

The state boards are evidently sufficient unto themselves, but have incurred a good deal of humorous criticism. For example, it is reported that a certain state board objected to the youthful unconventionalities of Shakespeare's Juliet, and indeed rejected all but five of Shakespeare's plays, yet was not adverse to passing modern pictures showing elements, detective dramas, and slapstick atrocities. Several of the states seem to have had it in for the recent production of "Carmen" with Geraldine Farrar, some objecting to Carmen's character altogether, others to the fact that she smoked, and still others taking exception to the duel between Morales and Don Jose. Yet the opera had probably been given in these states for years, and no one thought of censoring it.

From this it may be seen that censorship of the movie, as it exists today, is not only inefficient, but inconsistent and sometimes ludicrous. On the other hand, it is certainly true that the need for some restriction upon the type of sex play that has been flooding the country, is acute. A great many people, including several of the large producers, themselves, believe that the present bill, providing for a federal commission to pass upon the decency and fitness of motion pictures, will prove the answer to the problem. (There are quite as firmly convinced that it will not, that it is unconstitutional because it is akin to restricting the freedom of the press, and that it would work many practical hardships on an industry which affords all the sufficient evidence in its profits that it is giving the people what they want.

At least five big movie concerns, however, are interested in seeing such a commission established, and have co-operated with the Committee on Education in changing a few of the provisions of the bill which were opposed to the practical requirements of the industry. For instance, the measure provided that no film should be given transportation throughout the country until it was stamped with the seal of the commission, certifying that it was of a nature not injurious to the public. Now a motion picture company taking pictures in Honolulu or Wyoming is compelled to send the film back to the home office for revision, clipping and getting into form before the film considers offering it to the public. As an unfinished product, it would have to be transported without the seal, and a provision has now been inserted to take care of this factor.

It was also recommended by these concerns that the commission establish offices both in New York and Los Angeles, the two headquarters of the industry, in order that the producers could take up in person any suggestions or complaints with the official representatives of the board.

In order that the board may give the highest grade of expert and impartial service in judging films involving the expenditure of the fifth largest industrial capital in America, the members will be carefully chosen and so well paid that they will look upon the work as a career rather than a stepping stone to something else. In view of the fact that there are no universal standards of what is permissible in a film and what is not, the board is, of course, a purely arbitrary affair, its decisions depending entirely upon the personal opinions of its members. For this reason, it is provided that any producer dissatisfied with the decree of the commission may have the privilege of taking the case before a court of appeals.

One of the greatest objects of the film now being shown in the motion picture theaters is that the majority of them are unfit for children who constitute over 15 per cent of the audiences all over the country. It is urged by people interested in the federal board bill that some specific provision concerning children should be forced upon the exhibitors of motion pictures instead of appealing to the producers. Either children under a certain age should be forbidden entrance to a motion picture theater when unsuitable films were being shown, or special arrangements should be made for children's performances. It is unreasonable to expect the moving picture producers to produce only plays wholly suited to the child of 14.

In Europe, where a great deal more attention has been paid to censoring the movies, there are almost always special regulations for children. England, for example, has a committee somewhat similar to the New York National Board of Censorship, which passes upon every film distributed in the motion picture trade of England. If the film is suitable to exhibit before any audience, it is marked with a "universal" exhibition certificate by the committee; if it is considered unfit for children, it is given a "public" exhibition label. The exhibitor flashes these certificates on the screen immediately preceding the picture, thus giving the children opportunity to leave the audience. This precaution is made necessary by the demand of the patrons.

France has both government and police control of films, with the Chambre Syndicate de la Cinematographie, consisting of 200 members, as a board of arbitration between the motion picture people and the government factions. In Germany, of course, the Imperial government takes a hand in the censorship, charging $1.25 for every 328 feet of film inspected, and the police enforce it. A theater exhibiting any part of a film ordered eliminated by the government is closed immediately by the police, who are also detailed to see that children under 14 years of age are not allowed to attend inappropriate performances.

In order to attend a motion picture performance in Russia, a child must obtain a permit from his school. In Switzerland, too, the censorship procedure is extremely strict, the motion picture being regarded as a necessary evil. A man must ask the advice of the government in building his theater, which must be closed on Sundays and holidays; he must supply the local authorities with copies of his programs far in advance, and practically all children are excluded. Spain has not yet decided what course to pursue in regard to the movies. A people of conventional formality in matters of courtship and marriage, they are naturally shocked by the frank and unadorned love-making of the movie, but so far there is no censorship.

Thus the motion picture is a world-wide form of entertainment of a popularity which has a tremendous power for doing evil or good. The audience is absolutely at the mercy of the producer. It will absorb the message of the bad film as well as that of the good one. Hence the federal board of censorship may prove a lasting benefit.

SKIN YELLOW, BREATH BAD, LIVER CLOGGED?

A Wineglass of Tollo Water Will Get Your Liver Going and Make You Feel Fine in Half an Hour.

Your liver is fairly begging you for help. Probably too much rich food and not enough exercise in the open air. The liver has become clogged and is forcing the bile back into your system—your skin becomes yellow because the bile is being absorbed into the blood. It upsets the stomach, causing gas to form; your breath gets bad, your tongue coated, sometimes you get dizzy, and your nerves are on edge. Get a 15-cent bottle of concentrated Tollo Water from the drug store—drink a third of a tumbler full in a glass of plain water before breakfast or at any time on an empty stomach in half an hour it will flush out the bile tubes, really bathe the liver and expel the waste from the system. Your skin will clear up immediately, and your breath become pure and sweet.

Continue to drink a wineglassful of Tollo Water before breakfast for a few days and your natural, healthy color will return—your energy and strength will come back. This water does not act like drugs and oils that force and irritate, leaving you feeling weak and exhausted, but flushes and bathes in nature's way, giving you more strength and energy every day. After the skin has become clear and healthy, an occasional wineglassful in a glass of plain water before breakfast will keep your liver active and your stomach clean and ready to digest anything you eat.

DROVE SPIKES, NOW HE'S RAILWAY HEAD

New Chicago & Northwestern President Rose From Section Hand.

CHICAGO, June 5.—The elevation of Richard Henry Aishton to the presidency of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad marks the climax of another successful career, attained through starting at the bottom and working up.

Railroad men generally recognize Aishton as one of the most practical men in the business. He has worked at every job connected with the railroad from swinging a sledge on the ties to directing traffic. All his business career has been devoted to railroads, and his almost two-score years of service have all been devoted to one road.

Aishton was born at Evanston 56 years ago. His father was a tinsmith. After graduating from high school his parents wanted to send him to college, but young Richard, then 8, would have none of it. He wanted to be a railroader instantly.

He sought a job with the Chicago & Northwestern and got it. His duties were to lay the hard part of a sledge hammer on the top of a stake with as much force as he could muster. After several years of this he married, at the age of 21.

In time he became a roadman, and successively assistant engineer. Twenty-one year ago yesterday was given his first really important post—assistant superintendent of the road. In 1902 he was made assistant to the general manager, and less than two years later became manager.

In 1910 he was appointed vice president of operation and maintenance. There was just one more step—and he took it, the presidency. Last year Mr. Aishton served on the federal industrial relations committee, of which Frank P. Walsh was head.

Perhaps the best characterization of the C. & N. W.'s new head is given by his wife. Asked for a details of his life, she replied: "I guess I know him as well as anyone does, and all I can say is that he is a plain, hard working man."

Ambulance Trips

The Williams and Davis ambulance made the following removals:

W. H. Ryan was removed from his home on the St. John's road, seven miles southwest of the city, to the City hospital, Saturday night.

William Mull was taken to his home southwest of Woodlawn cemetery, Saturday afternoon, after the parade. He became faint while near the transfer station in the square.

Mrs. W. D. Hayes was taken from 116 North Central avenue, to the City hospital.

Mrs. F. J. Thorning was removed from the City hospital to 409 North Central avenue.

Words to a Young Man

For This is the Month of June

If you drift you will not arrive. Cast on uncharted seas, you must sail into the storm; you must weather the gale or fail in the attempt.

Your dream lies beyond the horizon. The path of progress is not a blazed trail. What tomorrow will bring depends on what you accomplish today. Your speed depends on your grit, and the pleasure of gain is the reward of trials and tribulations.

Try every day to break your own record. You cannot rest on your oars and expect to make any headway.

The Builders of Empires did not reckon reward. Pioneers, they stah the primitive with honesty of purpose; they sought bigger things than crowns, and higher seats than thrones.

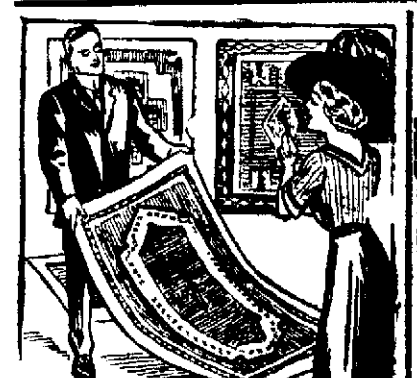

You cannot tarry by the way-side and expect to pass any milestones. Don't seek opportunity blindfolded. If you are shiftless, nobody will lift you out of the mire. Play fair with yourself if you expect fair play from others.

If you are blessed with responsibility, you possess the first essentials of happiness. The wine of leisure is made from the fruit of labor.

Every task is worth its weight in gold. The spoils of toil are coins of universal exchange.

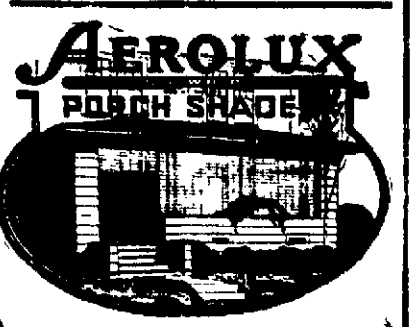

Evidence of good faith is all we ask; your promise is better than your cash when your performance merits credit.

You'll never win more than you earn, if you don't accumulate some tangible assets in advance. You can "cash in" your brain and brawn and enjoy the fruits of your energy if you take advantage of the "deferred payment plan" on home furnishings offered by US.

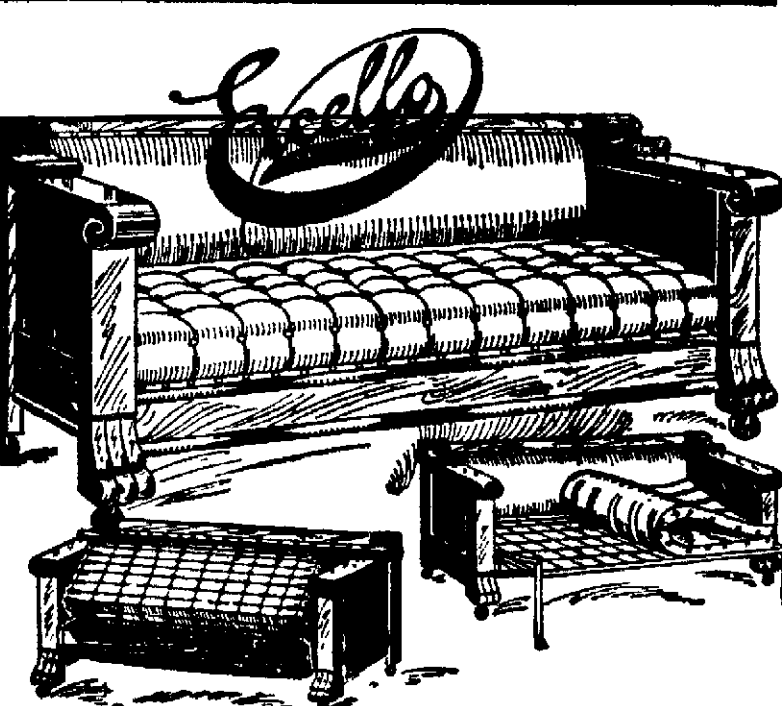

WITH EVERY RUG WE SHOW

your admiration will increase. Such a variety of attractive floor coverings must appeal to your love of the beautiful and artistic. Our exhibit includes all weaves, all sizes at almost every range of price. If you have decided to purchase a rug, you'll not do yourself justice unless you see our display.

By fitting all porch openings with Aerolux Porch Shades you can shut out the heat and glare of the sun without retarding ventilation. The openings in the fabric are sufficiently wide to permit vision from within but not from without.

An out-of-the-ordinary piece of utilitarian furniture that we're proud to show you—it's the biggest success we have ever had in this store—you'll be captivated with its good looks and its simple, but perfect mechanical operation will complete its fascinations. A davenport by day—a bed at night.

SUCH A TEMPTING DISPLAY

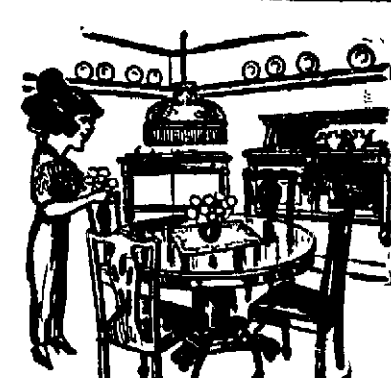

of fine Furnishings as we now are making it has never been our privilege to offer. It is certainly a showing of GOODS WORTH SEEING.

Come, have a look at it. To miss it is to miss an exhibit you will be more than sorry for afterward.

Brass and Iron Beds

may lack the fantastic designs of five years ago, but they still enjoy a very popular demand. The metal bed of today is more simple—and as a result, substantial—in construction, and if sold by an honest merchant, may be guaranteed for a lifetime. In matter of sanitation, it is surpassed by no other article of home equipment, for from brass knobs to casters, it may be cleaned thoroughly with soap and water if you desire. In the small bed room it is indispensable, for, it is far less cumbersome than a wooden bed, more easily moved about, and because of its open head and foot makes the chamber seem larger. Equipped with white counterpane it affords a bed room setting the daintiness and attraction of which is without rival. The price, too, will surprise you, for it is low in comparison with the value of the article. We are showing many new styles that are well worth your inspection.

The Ideal Dining Room

can be made a reality here by those of even the most modest purses. Come and look over our tables, chairs, sideboards, china closets, etc. You'll recognize their beauty at a glance. You'll realize their genuine merit as you put them to the test of long service.
